

Tutorial 5

It was a nice break from the usual grind of university study. Again, I felt like I was back in kindergarten. I gathered 2 takeaways from this class. First, it is important to communicate frequently with all stakeholders involved to ensure everyone is updated on the current progress and state of the project. Second, the project must have a clear and well-defined goal at the beginning, with specific requirements and constraints so that the development process can be carried out correctly.

My team:

- Rihards Gailis: Lead Designer
- Artturi Sivéén: Assistant Designer
- Trieu Huynh Ba Nguyen (Me): Observer
- Nazmul Khan: Observer