

Tutorial 4

It was an interesting exercise. I felt like I was back in kindergarten. Nevertheless, it was a new learning experience: a deep dive into the design process, allowing me to explore my thoughts, methods, and how the flow changed dynamically over time. This exercise is not just about drawing lines but understanding the iterative nature of design.